Hi Andy!

Happy, happy birthday!! We hope you have a good one this year and for the coming years to come. We are eternally grateful to your parents because they gave us an awesome gift which is you. You really became an inspiration to us because of what you went through and how you were able to overcome it. Saying that you're lucky would be an understatement. You are a living miracle, Andy. Always remember that. As a sign of how much we love you and how much we appreciate you, we created this simple yet wonderful gift for you. This is a birthday project that we called "Chat up lines with Andy Brown." Basically, this is a compilation of chat up lines or pick-up lines that we collected from fans all over the world. We created this for the hopes of maybe, in given situations, you would use the chat up lines to start conversations with unfamiliar people or just share this with your friends. We know how much you like to use chat up lines and we're somehow hopeful that you will find this useful. Anyway, I hope you get this gift from us and like this small gift from us. We love you so much, Andy!! Take care always! Cheers xx
